Open Source Intelligence Investigations Platform

Why use Videris?

Videris helps risk consultancies and law firms deliver more value to their clients in less time. It brings the whole of the investigator's workflow into one platform, making investigations faster and increasing insight.

Benefits

Grow productivity by up to 400%

Expedite the investigative process by reducing the need to switch between data sources. Conduct multiple searches in a shorter time period and disambiguate results with ease. Produce better-quality reporting in less time.

Reduce costs by increasing efficiency

Videris centralises all aspects of an investigation by bringing collection, analysis and reporting into a single interface. Investigators can complete work faster, so organisations can take on more new business.

Retain staff by decreasing manual work

Videris automates the dull, manual aspects of an investigation such as data collection - so analysts can direct their valuable skills towards analysis, where they're truly needed.

Avoid identity breaches

Videris provides a layer of security between the investigator and subject, ensuring that investigators do not leave a digital footprint and avoiding accidental disclosure.

Improve quality of client services

By saving time on data collection, investigators can spend more on analysis and produce more detailed reports. Videris provides analytical tools to identify hidden connections and risks.

Automate your evidence trail

Videris includes in-built functionality for case management, with time-stamped audit trails for transparency and accountability. Generate client reports in house format to save time.

Use Cases

More detailed enhanced due diligence

Provide faster and more in-depth due diligence reports to customers. Gain a complete overview of reputational concerns and all connected risk in a single platform.

Faster asset tracing

Quickly understand where assets may be located: map an individual's corporate network, connectivity and locations in a few minutes.
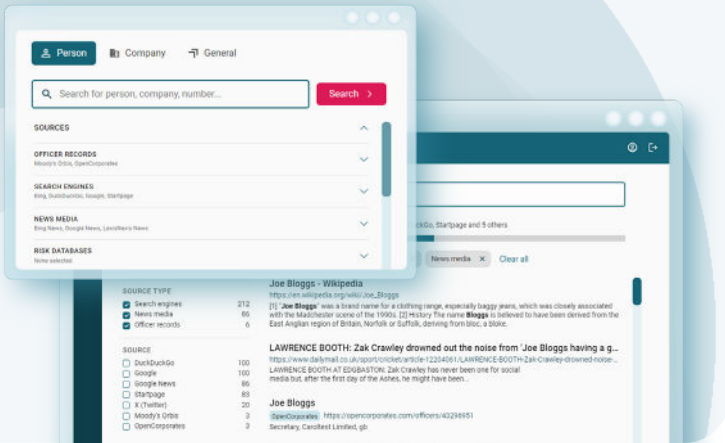

Quick supply chain verification

Checking the integrity of every supplier is an onerous task. With Videris, view every step of a supply chain, its corporate footprint and connected risks in just a few clicks.

Insights in bribery & corruption investigations

Save hours by automating the mapping of social media connections. Understand strength of connections, interactions and pattern of life. Quickly spot links using Videris Cross Matching.
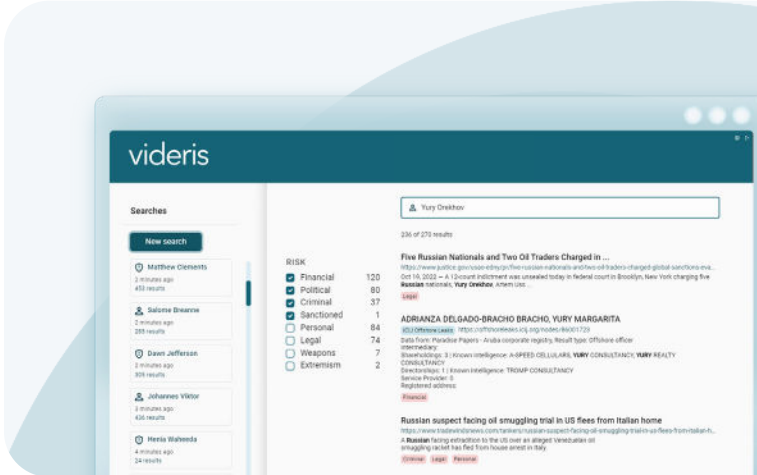

Comprehensive illicit trade investigations

Understand the networks behind organised crime groups: use advanced visualisations to gather and map multiple data types in a single interface.

Faster answers in financial crime investigations

Map complex connections between people, companies, addresses and more. Identify the important connections that can reveal money laundering networks or hidden beneficial ownership.

'Videris has allowed us to take on clients and assignments which we would otherwise have to decline or outsource. Elsewhere, investigations that would previously take us days can now be done in hours, or less.'
